

Engagement

TECH-FLEX (Hybrid) COURSE

Start of the Semester

- Consider using an engaging welcome to the course like an introduction video or group discussion where students can learn about you as well as each other.
- Outline your expectations for student engagement in the course syllabus and the course introduction.
- Communicate the class schedule and how a hybrid structure will operate.

During the Semester

- Consider creating a weekly discussion post, or class discussion, where students can apply what they are learning, practice a new concept, or reflect on the information that has been covered, while also engaging with each other and you as the instructor.
- Polls, interactive activities, and other in class activities can help keep students engaged in what they are learning and part
- Provide consistent and timely feedback
