

Tennessee
TECH

<https://www.tntech.edu>

<https://www.tntech.edu/engineering/news-events/news/2015-2016-coe-news/omicron-delta-kappa-10-14-2015>

Engineering students asked to become members of national honor society

by Reanna Young, College of Engineering Writer

Three College of Engineering seniors Allyson Hatton, Caleb Currie and Tyler Huffine have received invitations to the national honor society Omicron Delta Kappa. Induction will take place Monday, Oct. 19.

Hatton is a computer engineering major from Knoxville; Currie is a computer science major from Ripley; and Huffine is a mechanical engineering major from Johnson City.

To become a member of Omicron Delta Kappa, a person must display exemplary character, responsible leadership and service in campus and community life, superior scholarship, genuine fellowship and of democratic ideals. -originally had consecration of Tennessee Tech's Omicron Delta Kappa members plan to help make Thanksgiving baskets, participate in the local project Blessings in a Backpack, and a clothes drive to benefit the campus and community.

OMICRON DELTA KAPPA
The National Leadership Honor Society

Last edited 2016.07.08 by unknown.