Welcome to the Federal Work-Study Program

Dear Student:

Welcome!

We are glad you have chosen to be a student worker. We hope you will find your work here to be informative, rewarding, and fun!

Student worker positions provided through the Federal Work-Study (FWS) program are very important to the life of the university. First, they provide a major source of financial aid to help students meet their educational expenses. Secondly, student workers provide a vital supplement to the university staff. Many departments and offices, such as the library, the fitness center, and even financial aid could not operate without student workers. Finally, the FWS program provides valuable work experience to students that aligns with the Strategic Plan of the university. Student employment gives TECH's students an opportunity to develop personal and social skills sought after by most employers.

We hope you will enjoy being a part of the team. We encourage you to work with TECH Pride, an attitude of kindness and cooperation, so your objectives and the goals of the university can be accomplished. We value your service to the university!

Best wishes for a successful academic and work year.

Wings Up,

The Office of Financial Aid

What is Federal Work-Study (FWS)?

Federal Work-Study (FWS) is an employment program intended to encourage and promote the part-time employment of students with demonstrated financial need, as well as assist the university. This program is awarded primarily to undergraduate students with financial need as determined by the results from the Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA). Due to funding restrictions, there is no guarantee FWS will be awarded to all eligible students.

Will FWS pay towards my account balance?

FWS money is not credited to your account and cannot be used to confirm registration. You are expected to budget carefully and use your FWS income wisely to support your educational expenses. Income earned through FWS does not have to be repaid. Your FWS hourly salary will not be lower, but may exceed, the federal minimum wage. You are paid once a month for hours worked.

What does the FWS student worker need to know?

You do not earn time for holidays, vacations, sickness, etc.

You do not accrue benefits.

Awards are based on an average of 5-10 hours a week in order to earn each term's full award. You are allowed to work up to 29 hours per week with the permission of your supervisor (given you are not working during class time). Working an excess of 5-10 hours per week would result in reaching your maximum award more quickly and finishing your hours earlier in the term.

If you work six hours or longer, you are required to take at least a 30-minute break during your shift.

If you earn your maximum award for the fall term, you may not start earning your spring term award early.

You can never volunteer in positions in which you were previously paid.

You must never work when there is not a designated supervisor present.

You must consider how the combination of work and study hours will affect your health and academic progress when making your schedule for each term.

You can only be employed in one FWS position at a time; however, you may hold another non-FWS job.

You cannot work when regular university employees are not at work.

You will have an employment record. If future employers wish to verify that you worked at Tennessee Tech during a certain time period, they may submit what's called an "employment verification" to financialaid@tntech.edu.

What's the process to get a work-study job?

Once FWS awards are accepted, applicants search for available positions through the Student Job Portal. You are encouraged to apply for more than one position in order to improve the odds of receiving the position you find most desirable. You are also asked to review the position details closely to ensure that you understand what will be expected of you in that position.

Once the supervisor has selected a student to hire, they will submit a hire request to the Office of Financial Aid (OFA). Once the OFA has received the paperwork, an email will be sent to the student and department notifying them of the student's eligibility to begin working. Please note, all I-9 and W-4 paperwork must be completed prior to beginning student employment.

As soon as you have accepted your preferred position, we ask that you decline all other job offers to let the supervisors know that you are no longer available for hire. This is another professional step in the hiring process.

When do I start looking for a work-study job?

You should begin to look for a position during the summer prior to the start of fall semester of each year. The Office of Financial Aid will notify you when the Student Job Portal is accepting applicants. By this time of year, we expect employers who intend to hire you to have posted their jobs in the Student Job Portal.

Most supervisors seek students who can work for the whole academic year (Fall and Spring semesters). On occasion, departments will hire for a single semester only. Please look at the job descriptions carefully before selecting a job.

Where do I search for a work-study job?

The Student Job Portal is accessed from the Tech Express dashboard using the "JobPortal" QuickLink icon.

You will need to ACCEPT the FWS Award through their Eagle Online account before logging into the Student Job Portal to begin your position search. Please allow 24 hours from the time you accepted the award to begin your search.

- Available jobs are posted within the Student Job Portal located within Tech Express.
- Applicants can contact departments of interest directly to see if FWS student jobs are available.
- Contact studentjobs@tntech.edu for questions or help with a job search strategy.

What do I need before I can start working?

First time FWS applicants only: You will need to obtain an I-9 Employment Eligibility Verification card (by filling out an online form) and fill out a W-4 Tax Form, both of which will need to be done in the Human Resources office in Derryberry Hall, room 146, Monday – Friday, 8-4:30pm.

To start the I-9 process:

*Scan QR code*

Create an account:

1. Verify the account with verification code (sent to email entered)
2. Log in with user name and password
  - o Enter Application Station Code: TNTECHI9 (ALL CAPS - the letter before the 9 is a capital "i") and complete section 1

Once this step is complete, go to Human Resources to show documents, your banking information to fill out the direct deposit and a completed copy of the W-4! Please note, all I-9 and W-4 paperwork must be completed prior to beginning student employment. Any questions, please contact hr@tnitech.edu or 931-372-3034.

I've accepted a job – now what?

Starting a new job is a big step, so it's important to start it off on the right foot! Here are a few questions you should ask your supervisor at your first meeting:

- Who is my direct supervisor?
- How do I input my time?
- What is the dress code?
- What should I do if I cannot come into work?
- Am I allowed to have a cell phone while I am working?
- Will training be provided and who should I ask if I don't understand what I should be doing?
- Will you be completing a performance evaluation of me?
- If yes, what will I be evaluated on?

When and where do I report my time?

PLEASE NOTE: Hours worked each day must be recorded at the beginning and ending of each shift daily on an individual time sheet located in the Student Job Portal. Failure to do so may result in the loss of your FWS award. If you were to miss a clock in/out or need to correct an incorrect clock in/out, you must request to your FWS Supervisor to make the correction to your time. We strongly suggest that you email your FWS Supervisor from your campus email of this request. You will submit your timesheet to your supervisor for approval by 11:59pm on the last working day of each month. The supervisor will then report your approved hours worked to the Payroll department through Student Job Portal the following work day.

Direct Deposit

Please visit <https://www.tnitech.edu/private/hr/hrforms/payrollforms.php> to set up your direct deposit information prior to beginning your first day of employment. If you have never received FWS pay and have not been previously enrolled in direct deposit, your first check will need to be picked up in the Bursar's Office. Please make reasonable efforts to pick up your paycheck as soon as possible after payday. After your first paycheck, you will then begin receiving all additional paychecks within the designated direct deposit.

NOTE: It is your responsibility to keep the Office of Human Resources informed if your bank information or account information changes. The direct deposited funds will continue to go to the bank and the account you designate until any changes are made. The bank used for the spring term will be the same one used for the fall term unless the information is changed.

Payday

You are paid once a month, on the 10th day of the month, for the previous month's work. If pay dates fall on a holiday or weekend, paychecks will be deposited on the work day prior to the weekend or holiday.

What TECH expects of an FWS Student Worker

Along with the advantages and opportunities offered to students by FWS employment with the university, there are certain responsibilities and obligations you will be expected to meet:

- A TECH student's primary responsibility is to attend all class and laboratory meetings for those courses in which he/she is enrolled. You must never work during a scheduled class time, even if that class is cancelled or given early dismissal. In the cases of hybrid classes or alternate class times due to COVID, you must abide by the class schedule listed within the Student Job Portal. If you receive the alert, "Unable to clock in due to scheduled class time" that means you should not be working until your scheduled class time is over, regardless if classes are cancelled.
- Another responsibility is to do good work on the assignments given by the supervisor. The supervisor is responsible for what is done, so respect his/her experience, listen to his/her instructions, and carry them out promptly and to the best of your ability.
- In addition to following the instructions, doing a good job requires students to think for themselves, to ask questions, and make constructive suggestions. You will find that the supervisor is interested in your ideas and will appreciate your efforts to do a good job.
- Doing a good job also implies certain other obligations on your part, such as maintaining good health and mental alertness, personal hygiene, and dressing and conducting themselves appropriately on the job. You will often represent the university to fellow students, faculty, staff, administration and the general public.
- The "personality" of the university is reflected in the personality of its employees and students. As a student worker, you are a part of the university's image. You should always treat fellow students, faculty, staff, and visitors in a friendly and respectful manner.
- While working, you may learn a great deal about other students, parents of students, and university personnel. Such information must be held in strict confidence and not discussed with others unless it is necessary in the official performance of duties. This is especially true for those students working in the placement of Bursar, Student Affairs, Counseling Center, Admissions, Residential Life, the CDL, and Financial Aid offices.

- The Office of Financial Aid will follow the Confidentiality of Student Records and FERPA Compliance Policy 1206. Student workers may be required to sign a Statement of Confidentiality. The requirement of a signed confidentiality agreement is up to the discretion of each individual department. All compliance forms and records are to be maintained by each department as well.

I really don't feel like going to work today. Is that okay?

You are expected to be at work and start work at the time assigned by the supervisor. Remember, only scheduled classes and labs should take priority over work. The only valid reasons for missing work are: illness, emergencies, and attendance of scheduled classes and labs. Social activities, trips, and review/study for exams do not take priority over work assignments, unless previously cleared with the supervisor. If, for any reason, students are unable to be at work at their assigned time, students must notify their supervisor prior to missing work.

Can my friends come hang out? Can I have my phone while I'm at work?

You have accepted a job offer and with that, you are expected to be there to work. Please ask friends/family to visit during nonwork hours.

While at work, you are expected to exercise discretion in using personal cellphones. Excessive personal calls during the workday can interfere with your productivity, be distracting to others, and/or cause a breach of confidentiality.

How do I answer the office phone?

Answering the telephone in a friendly manner shows the caller that you are interested in helping them. The principles given below can serve as your guide in using the telephone:

1. Answer promptly and courteously.
2. Identify yourself by name and department.
3. Give an accurate and careful answer.
4. When appropriate, offer to take a message or have the supervisor return the call.

Traffic on our telephones is especially heavy and lines must be kept open for university business. Therefore, you are not to use the telephone for personal business, except in a case of emergency.

Do I get paid for travel?

You are employed through Federal Work-Study (FWS) and may not count travel time as working time. For example: A student assigned as a physical therapist for athletics may not count the time to and from the game as time worked.

This is what I wear to class... does it matter?

You are expected to present a neat and clean appearance at all times while working. Each supervisor has the authority to require his/her workers to present a reasonable personal appearance as to dress, hair, beards, and personal cleanliness. These rules may vary somewhat from one department to another; for example, a departmental office verses the fitness center. Once a supervisor or department establishes reasonable rules, they must be applied to all employees in an equitable manner.

How do I know if I'm doing a good job?

Evaluation and feedback are provided on an ongoing basis by a supervisor. You may be counseled about areas where work is above average and where work improvement is needed. Open lines of communication between you and the supervisor play an important part in the success of the FWS program.

Performance factors that may be addressed either by evaluation or feedback are as follows: Quality of Work (accuracy, timeliness, neatness and thoroughness), Quantity of Work (productive output), Dependability (follows instructions, shows good judgment, punctuality and attendance), Compatibility (attitude toward the university and supervision, cooperation with fellow employees and faculty).

I'm not happy in my job. Is it possible to switch positions?

In order to be considered for a new position, you must formally resign in writing from your current FWS position by notifying the Office of Financial Aid and your supervisor. You should offer to give reasonable notice (usually two weeks) to your present supervisor. This courtesy of advance notice will allow the supervisor time to adjust working schedules and attempt to secure a replacement.

You will need to look for new positions within the Student Job Portal. Please note that job postings are based on an entire award year. Should you choose to resign, for whatever reason, that does not guarantee you a position in another department.

Also, if you wish to cancel your FWS Award altogether, you would need to formally resign by notifying the Office of Financial Aid and your supervisor, in writing, and give as much notice as possible. Remember, this is the beginning of your employment record. Make it a good beginning.

Turning down your FWS Award for one year, does not jeopardize your eligibility for future years.

Discharges/Terminations – Appeal Process

If you fail to meet the requirements of your position as an FWS student worker, your supervisor has the right to terminate your employment with their department. At no point may a supervisor or department deny you the right to earn your FWS award due to performance reasons. You will receive a formal memo to your campus email stating the termination of your position and possible removal of your FWS Award.

If you wish to appeal the supervisor's termination of your position, you must submit a letter of appeal documenting the extenuating circumstances surrounding your termination to studentjobs@tnitech.edu within 14 days of the date of the termination memo.

Upon review, the Office of Financial Aid reserves the right to either:

- deny the termination appeal, resulting in the immediate removal of future FWS earnings, or
- approve the termination appeal, resulting in allowing you to continue to receive the FWS award and seek new placement through Student Job Portal.

Will I get FWS again next year?

FWS is a need-based award determined by the FAFSA form. Based on limited funds, it is awarded on a first come, first served basis, so it's not guaranteed year to year like scholarships.

If you don't receive an FWS award next year, email financialaid@tntech.edu, and ask to be placed on the FWS Award waiting list. Be sure to include your full name and T number! Fortunately, the OFA is able to award off that list quite frequently throughout the academic year.

I need help... what do I do?

It's been a stressful couple of years for all of us here at Tennessee Tech and around the world! We want you to know that we are here for you. If you are having a difficult time coping with school and/or work, please don't hesitate to reach out to your supervisor. If you don't feel comfortable making that connection, the TN Tech Counseling Center offers brief, short term, therapeutic interventions for our students. The staff of the Counseling Center are available to assist students with their personal and social concerns, as well as, offer a wide range of mental health, educational, and consultative services to students. Services offered by the Counseling Center are free for enrolled students of Tech and are confidential.

There is also an app for that! WellTrack is an interactive self-help therapy app for Tech students. You can visit here for other helpful apps!

Policy on Nepotism

The Office of Financial Aid will follow the policy of nepotism set forth by Human Resources. The nepotism policy is designed to prevent occurrences whereby relatives who are employees of the university are in direct supervisory line with respect to each other. In order to guard against these practices, the university prohibits university full-time/ part-time students or temporary employees who are relatives from being placed within the same lines of supervision where one relative is responsible for supervising the job performance or work activity of another relative. For the purpose of this policy, a "relative" means a parent, parent-in-law, child, spouse, brother, sister, grandparent, grandchild, spouse, son-in-law, brother-in-law, daughter-in-law, sister-in-law, or other family members who reside in the same household. To see the complete policy of nepotism, visit Policy Central (<https://tntech.policytech.com/>) and Policy No. 685. So, please be sure that you do not apply for a position under a family member!

FWS and COVID 19

The FWS program will adhere to policies set forth under Return to Tech. It is up to you to adhere to the necessary COVID 19 policies set forth by your individual department. The Office of Financial Aid is not responsible for COVID guidance as it applies to students or the campus.
