

SETC ANNUAL CONVENTION

MARCH 9-13 | MEMPHIS, TN

We encourage interested students to participate in the SETC conference, and there are many options for hands-on or observational activities, depending on your career or interests.

As a student participating in the SETC conference, through the design competition, open auditions, or workshops, you would have many opportunities to meet other students in other programs, see what they do, and learn from their experiences.

73RD ANNUAL CONVENTION

ANNUAL MEMPHIS, TN
CONVENTION MARCH 9-13

Connecting You to Opportunities in Theatre Nationwide

SETC.ORG

There are hundreds of workshops available, from acting to script analysis, and arduinos to truss design.

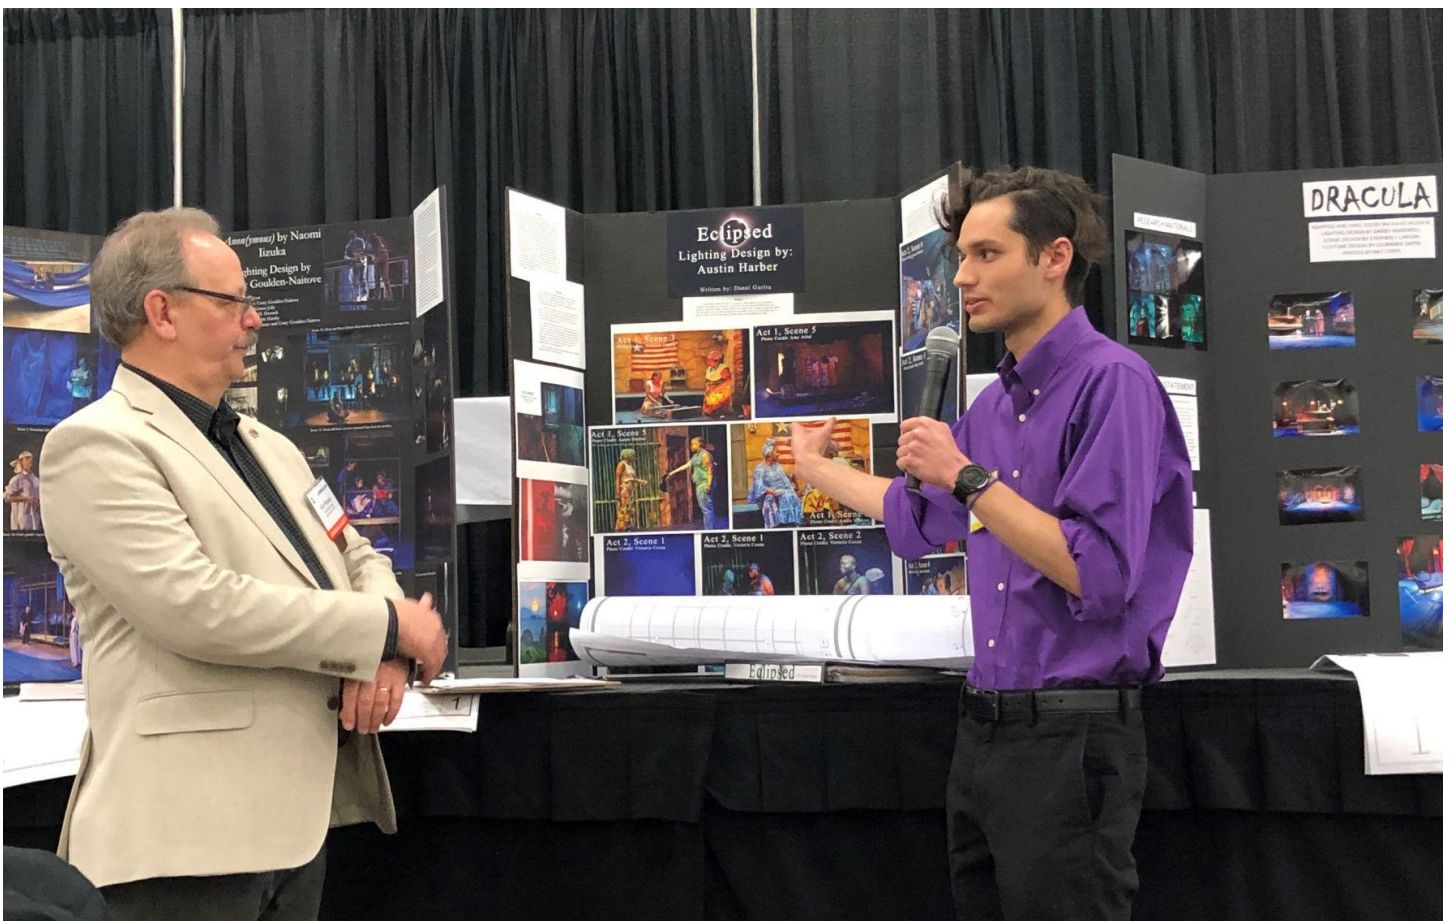

This is an example of the type and quality of scene design renderings you would encounter, as part of the judging and design competition. Be prepared to present your work well, and be articulate to show a deep understanding of the material.

Other design examples from the design competition and judging process.

Note the high quality of the scale models

And the high technical competency from the other presenting students.

Many vendors of theatrical supplies, equipment and materials attend the conference. As a student, this is a time to observe and test cutting edge technology, - and speak with experts in the field.

Opportunities for student auditions toward MFA programs, and summer internships, or full time employment.

And job interviews for practice or real employment when the time comes.

Performances from the high school theater competition

A portrait of Norm Lewis, a Black man with short, graying hair, smiling. He is wearing a dark blue textured blazer over a purple button-down shirt. A purple pocket square is visible in his blazer pocket. The background is dark and out of focus, with some warm light sources.

2022 SETC DISTINGUISHED
CAREER AWARD RECIPIENT

Norm Lewis

KEYNOTE

Saturday, Mar. 12, 2:30 PM CT
RCC BALLROOM A

AWARD PRESENTATION

Saturday, Mar. 12, 8:00 PM CT
RCC EXHIBIT HALL SW

Photo Credit: Peter Hurley

73RD ANNUAL CONVENTION

ANNUAL MEMPHIS, TN
CONVENTION MARCH 9-13

Connecting You to
Opportunities in Theatre Nationwide

SETC.ORG

If you are interested in attending contact Mark Creter mcreter@tnitech.edu or Bob Cardana rcardana@tnitech.edu