

Experiential (FEM) Track Supplemental Form
Community Health and Nutrition Graduate Program
(GP) Evidence of Work/Volunteer Experience

Work and/or volunteer hours help the potential graduate student increase their knowledge or skill in the field of nutrition and dietetics and help them determine if this educational pathway is appropriate for their goals.

The MS in Community Health and Nutrition FEM GP requires a total of 300 hours of work or volunteer experience in the previous 4 years prior to application. Two hundred of the 300 hours must be in a nutrition or dietetics related field.

The areas where dietetic or nutrition related experience may be obtained could include clinical, food service/management, community, research and sports nutrition.

Please list the experiences you are including to meet the work/volunteer hours. This document allows you to showcase the variety of work/volunteer experiences you have. Please list all relevant experiences.

Copy and insert additional charts as needed for experiences:
