Hate Crimes

Under the Clery Act, a hate crime is defined as a criminal offense committed against a person or property which is motivated, in whole or in part, by the offender's bias.

Bias refers to a "preformed negative opinion or attitude toward a group of persons based on their race, gender, religion, disability, sexual orientation, gender identity, ethnicity, or national origin." If any of the aforementioned Clery crimes involve such biases, those incidents are also considered hate crimes. Other crimes considered when hate crimes are being assessed include: larceny/theft, simple assault, intimidation, and damage/destruction/vandalism of property.

- In 2016, one on-campus incident characterized by national origin bias occurred when a car was vandalized in a University parking lot.

Unfounded Crimes

The VAWA/Campus SaVE Act requires institutions to provide statistics on crime reports that were unfounded. Only law enforcement is permitted to unfound a report that would otherwise be submitted as a Clery statistic. If the campus police or local law enforcement deem the report false or baseless, the officer(s) must be able to articulate why the report was given that status. No other university affiliates have the legal authority to unfound a report and thus must submit any and all Clery crime reports they received, no matter what the outcome of the investigation was and no matter if a dean or other university official did or did not take disciplinary action.

- In 2014, when this category began, no reports were unfounded.
- In 2015, 1 report was unfounded.
- In 2016, no reports were unfounded.

CHEC

COOKEVILLE HIGHER EDUCATION CENTER (CHEC)

CHEC is located at 1000 Neal Street, Cookeville, TN 38501. In 2015, Tennessee Tech, Vol State Community College (VCSS), and Nashville State Community College (NCSS) partnered to bring a broader selection of quality academic courses to students aspiring to earn their associate degrees. Tennessee Tech's initial role was administrative in nature, and Tennessee Tech students did not attend classes there during the first partnership year.

Tennessee Tech University Police patrol and provide professional law enforcement services to CHEC. Crimes and other emergencies at this location should be reported to the University Police officer on duty. Comments, concerns, or questions about safety and security at the CHEC campus should be directed to the University Police Department.

Per agreement, Title IX responsibilities at CHEC are shared by Tennessee Tech and VSCC. Whichever institution has jurisdiction over the respondent, or accused, takes the lead on sexual misconduct complaints. That institution's policies and procedures will apply throughout the process.

For the ASR, Tennessee Tech and VSCC report crimes and Title IX for areas that each controls and/or manages. They also report crimes and Title IX for areas that are shared, such as common spaces, parking, streets, etc.

The chart below includes CHEC's 2015 and 2016 Clery crime statistics. There are no statistics available for 2014. There is no student housing at CHEC.

Beginning July 1, 2017, VSCC will assume full administrative responsibility for CHEC.
